C. Teaching and Learning Strategy

Overall the course is delivered by a blend of scheduled large group sessions (LGS) and small group sessions (SGS), guided independent study and assessment. Student learning is directed and supported principally via contact in-class with tutors and peers and the use of internally and externally produced print and online materials and exercises, using the VLE as a central facility to support independent study.

The sequencing of classes, guided study, self-directed study, assignments and assessments is designed across the programme and within each module, including in relation to pervasive skills and attitudes, to align in a constructive, cumulative and formative manner to enable each student's development to achieve the module, level and programme outcomes with regard to learning, skills and development.

Students are introduced to legal study and the aims of the degree through intensive induction programmes at the commencement of each level.

Modules attracting 20 credits require students to engage in 200 hours of study and are taught and assessed over the period of 15 weeks (one semester). This study time typically comprises 4 hours of scheduled class meetings per week for 12 weeks, totalling 48 hours, and a further 152 hours of independent study outside the class meetings in the form of guided study, self-directed study and assessment. Independent study time comprises approximately 9 hours per week in teaching weeks and 13 hours in the remaining 3 revision and assessment weeks.

Class meetings (4 hours per week¹) divide into meetings between the teaching team and the large group sessions (LGS) and small group sessions (SGS) and meetings between the student and tutors.

There will be two meetings of the whole group (WGM) in a weekly cycle. The first meeting will be 2 hours generally in expository lecture-style format offering an overview of the topic terrain in context, pointing up issues and referencing sources. The format may vary according to group size and the aims of the session and can be varied, within limits, to include student participation and activities (buzz groups, peer-marked writing assignments, voting via Turning Point etc). The second weekly whole group meeting is 1 hour workshop during which the student will have the opportunity to engage in work assigned at the first whole group meeting. This second whole group meeting provides an opportunity to focus more deeply on novel, difficult, or contentious issues in the topic and underlying concepts and to prepare for the related SGS.

The third and final meeting of the cycle, the SGS, is conducted in small groups of approximately 25 students or less meeting normally for one hour weekly or for some optional modules two hours fortnightly, where students have the opportunity to participate with the tutor and one another in discussing, questioning, explaining and exploring the topic to clarify, extend and consolidate knowledge and understanding and to practice key skills such as analysis, evaluation, research and advocacy. The SGS is the culmination of each learning cycle and delivers regular, extensive feedback on student learning and performance at every stage through self-reflection and both peer and tutor responses.

¹ Exceptionally, 3LS in Year 1/Level 4 has 5 hours of contact per week

¹ E-tivity is a learning model created by Gilly Salmon whereby, in response to some striking focus of interest accompanied by full explanation of the purpose of the exercise and the learning outcomes, student learners are required to do something (reading, commenting, researching, observing, analysing, comparing and/or evaluating sources, undertaking self-assessment e.g. by MCT etc) and to reflect and report on their experience (report in class, present findings, write, share with peers, e.g. by blog etc).

Independent study

(9 hours per week per module) comprises a variety of activities including reading, researching, examining, recording, thinking, reflecting, preparing, writing etc. This element of the overall study model forms a significant part of the integrated whole encompassing class meetings, independent study and assessment.

For each LGS and SGS the teaching team will offer on-line guidance and direction as to how independent study time should be used, providing assigned tasks and suggesting further reading and research. Typically, directed self-study time will be in the form of e-tivity² assignments. E-tivities will be delivered via the VLE where there is a dedicated site for each module which includes materials, resources, links, group spaces, assessment material etc. E-tivities include opportunities for short formative online self-assessment. Several publishers offer online support materials including self-assessment MCTs and we will exploit this as suitable. Gradually through level 5 and more completely by level 6, guidance and e-tivities will shift responsibility for selecting study activities and determining the disposition of independent study time from the tutor to the learner.

Materials

It is intended to supply recommended books via our VLE (specifically online library resources such as Oxford University Press Law Trove Library; Westlaw and Lexis). In-house materials to support the class meetings will be produced in both hard-copy and online formats. Online materials will be located within the VLE alongside, as appropriate, Adobe Presenter and PowerPoint presentations, further reading (including relevant extracts from published works digitally scanned or embedded by the library) and links to any online sources.

These supplementary materials will support consolidation, extension and revision of learning and allow students catch up easily should they miss a taught session.

Skills Strategy The skills strategy for the LLB focuses on the development of different skills at different levels of the programme.

- Level 4 focuses on the development of intellectual and study skills,
- Level 5 focuses on professional and employability skills
- Level 6 focuses on research and independent learning skills.

Specialist modules (3LS, Working in the Law, the Pool A options and the Project) direct and support skills learning at each level, while the planned reinforcement of skills development is integrated into all other modules.

Support for learners

The University places a high priority on providing support for learners. This support is provided by a combination of services, both centrally in the University and at the programme level. Much of the support focuses on developing learners' skills to enhance their performance on the programme and to facilitate their progression with current employment or transition into future employment.

Programme level support

Personal Tutors

Every learner is assigned a Personal Tutor throughout the period of his/her LLB studies. The personal tutor helps the learner review and plan academic progress on the course. The personal tutor is the first point of contact for any academic or personal problems which impact on the learner's ability to learn/continue with his/her studies. Where personal problems are concerned, the personal tutor's role is limited to directing the learner to appropriate professional advice, often within Learner Services (central support).

Office Hours

The Law Division has led on an innovative system of 'office hours'. All full time academics advertise during teaching term time at least three hours spread over two days of availability to be booked via the VLE. Details of telephone numbers and email addresses are given to students.

The specialist law librarian team is involved in course delivery by her engagement in the research skills sessions and is known and available to students to assist with queries or difficulties.

Course Administrator, Module Leaders, Director of Studies and Course Director

Problems or questions about the course are directed depending on their nature

- administrative and results related to the Course Administrator
- module related to the module leader or module team
- level related to the Director of studies for each year
- course, options, appeals, interruptions, withdrawal and retention related to the Course Director

Personal Development Planning: (see appendix 1).

Personal Development Planning (PDP) is a process that all learners in Higher Education are required to participate in. The main aims of PDP are to help the learner to reflect on their learning; performance and achievements; and to help them prepare effectively for their career beyond university by planning their own personal, educational and career development goals.

Personal Development Records (PDRs) are the product of the PDP process; in most cases this will be a portfolio of materials that the learner will use as evidence of their personal development. PDRs record:

- personal growth and achievements;
- reflections by the learner on their progress;
- areas the learner has identified for improvement;
- plans of action by the learner to achieve their goals
- the actions required and taken to achieve improvement

By recording their reflections in PDRs learners will develop the ability to

- become an effective, self-directed learner;
- understand how they learn;
- improve their study and career management skills;
- articulate their personal goals and
- evaluate their achievements.

Reflecting, using the PDP process, and recording their reflections using the PDRs will help learners perform better on the LLB course and equip them with transferable skills for lifelong learning and developing their chosen career path. Personal tutors will provide direct support for learners in developing their PDRs. The objectives of PDP are also met at other junctures within the LLB.

Central Support

The University's Learning and Development Centre (LDC) aims to support learners' learning and personal development. It provides a wide range of personal and academic services to learners and works with other Divisions and Schools in the University to ensure that the services offered meet the needs of learners. All services are based on the main campus in Southwark. Some services are provided in the evening.

The services available include:

Core Skills Provision	Classes, workshops, and drop-in sessions to help learners develop and enhance their academic reading and writing skills, basic maths, English language (for learners whose first language is not English)
Job shop	A service to enable learners to find part-time, temporary one-off and vac work while they are studying
Careers Guidance	Drop-in sessions and interviews to discuss any aspect of career planning taking career decisions, discuss CVs or prepare for a job interview
Personal development and advice	Advisory service to discuss personal concerns or difficulties which might personal development and academic performance, support for learners v disabilities including dedicated dyslexia support, chaplaincy to provide confidential pastoral care.
Information about all services are located on the University's website: www.lsbu.ac.uk

Links with Employers

Many members of the Law Division are practitioners who remain in practice or retain strong links with the legal profession. Through our growing pool of Visiting Professors and Fellows and our engagement with Local Authority Legal Divisions, the Southwark Legal Advice Network and the South London Law Society, the Law Division has developed strong links across the legal profession in London that benefit students through guest lectures, placement & volunteering opportunities and support for our Legal Advice Centre. Moreover, the Law Division and the South London Law Society co-operate to provide a programme of Continuing Professional Development (CPD) seminars for local practitioners that our students can attend.

Quality indicators

The LLB is subject to a number of quality enhancement indicators.

These range from

Internal Module Evaluation Questionnaires
Annual New Student Surveys
In Course Surveys
Scrutiny and Level meetings

External External Examiners scrutiny of marking and modules

The quality enhancement trail also includes

Module Reports,
Course Board Minutes, and
Progression and Achievement Statistics.

Each quality mechanism is assessed, reflected upon in the Annual Programme Monitoring process and forms the basis for specific action to be taken on a year by year basis within the PMR Action Plan and the Law Division Strategic Plan.

D. Assessment

The assessment strategy of the LLB programme requires that assessment should:

- be based on criteria and practices known to students in advance,
- be marked according to published standards and practices formulated to ensure fairness and consistency,
- test the outcomes of the course and each module at the appropriate level,
- be sufficiently varied in form to test all outcomes including both knowledge and skills,
- be searching and rigorous in standard,
- contribute to the development of student learning during the course,
- offer opportunities during the course to identify students' strengths and weaknesses,
- comply with LSBU Regulations and the requirements of the Joint Academic Stage Board and the Institute of Legal Executives.

The programme includes a variety of assessment methods consistent with this strategy to foster learning development and assess programme outcomes. The aim is to provide a balanced range of assessment focused on the outcomes appropriate to the module and level. In addition to written examinations (which may be unseen or seen in whole or part) and coursework, the programme will employ in-class assessment to encourage preparation and participation and to facilitate timely formative feedback. As part of this strategy, multiple choice and VLE-based assessment will be used to assess subject knowledge and offer prompt feedback and guidance.

The pattern and burden of assessment has been developed over a number of LLB validations and has been informed by practice across the HE Law sector, particularly through engagement with our External Examiners. Whilst using innovative and diverse assessment strategies for individual modules, the overall burden of assessment at each Level of the programme is intended to be consistent, balanced and appropriate to the Level. The assessment strategy is informed by professional body (JASB and ILEX) requirements requiring appropriate testing of legal knowledge in the Foundation subjects by way of examination and related to the learning outcomes for each level. At Level 6, there is a greater use of assessment by means of coursework, reflecting the greater emphasis on analysis and evaluation and research and independent study skills at that level.

The benchmark for a module is a 2 hour Exam (+ 15 minutes reading time) or a 6,000 word coursework as a single piece of final assessment. The benchmark is based upon University and HE Law Sector practice and may be departed from where there is more than one piece of assessment or the outcomes and strategies of an individual module require. A breakdown of assessment module by module is provided in the attached module statements.

The assessment strategy for each level reflects the outcomes set for that level. Appropriateness of the assessment for individual modules is considered in relation to both module and level outcomes a once semester internal assessment scrutiny meetings before draft assessments are sent to External Examiners for approval. A further annual assessment and module scrutiny meeting occurs before the Summer examination board.

Entry level (Level 4) Assessment

The outcomes set at Level 4 require students to demonstrate the acquisition of knowledge and analytical and problem solving skills in order to pass. They do not require students to demonstrate the full set of outcomes for the programme, such as to reason critically and argue effectively and to work autonomously, in order to achieve a pass mark.

In addition to written examinations (required by the professional bodies), the programme employs in-class assessment to encourage preparation and participation and to facilitate timely formative feedback. As part of this strategy, multiple choice tests and VLE-based self-assessment are used to assess subject knowledge and offer prompt feedback and guidance.

Mid programme (Level 5) Assessment

The outcomes set at Level 5 provide a progressive transition between the outcomes required at Level 4 and the full programme outcomes required at Level 6.

The compulsory Foundation subjects are assessed by examination. Working in the Law, the compulsory legal professional skills module, is assessed by skills based coursework. The Pool A options are intended as a preparation for the Project and, although taught, are assessed in a similar way.

Graduate (Level 6) Assessment

The full set of programme outcomes, are assessed. The compulsory Foundation subjects are assessed by examination. The Project is assessed by oral presentation (Project Proposal) and extended coursework (the Project itself). Criminal Litigation and Civil Litigation are assessed in accordance with the requirements of ILEX by a mix of skills and examination. The Pool B and Pool C options are assessed by a range of assessment methods reflecting the greater emphasis on analysis and evaluation and research and independent study skills at level 6.

Appendix B: Embedding the Educational Framework for Undergraduate Courses

The Educational Framework at London South Bank University is a set of principles for curriculum design and the wider student experience that articulate our commitment to the highest standards of academic knowledge and understanding applied to the challenges of the wider world.

The Educational Framework reflects our status as University of the Year for Graduate Employment awarded by The Times and The Sunday Times Good University Guide 2018 and builds on our 125 year history as a civic university committed to fostering social mobility through employability and enterprise, enabling our students to translate academic achievement into career success.

There are four key characteristics of LSBU's distinctive approach to the undergraduate curriculum and student experience:

- Develop students' professional and vocational skills through application in industry-standard facilities
- Develop our students' graduate attributes, self-awareness and behaviours aligned to our EPIIC values
- Integrate opportunities for students to develop their confidence, skills and networks into the curriculum
- Foster close relationships with employers, industry, and Professional, Statutory and Regulatory Bodies that underpin our provision (including the opportunity for placements, internships and professional opportunities)

The dimensions of the Educational Framework for curriculum design are:

- informed by employer and industry needs as well as professional, statutory and regulatory body requirements
- embedded learning development for all students to scaffold their learning through the curriculum taking into account the specific writing and thinking requirements of the discipline/profession
- high impact pedagogies that enable the development of student professional and vocational learning through application in industry-standard or authentic workplace contexts
- inclusive teaching, learning and assessment that enables all students to access and engage the course
- assessment for learning that provides timely and formative feedback

All courses should be designed to support these five dimensions of the Educational Framework. Successful embedding of the Educational Framework requires a systematic approach to course design and delivery that conceptualises the student experience of the curriculum as a whole rather than at modular level and promotes the progressive development of understanding over the entire course. It also builds on a well-established evidence base across the sector for the pedagogic and assessment experiences that contribute to high quality learning.

This appendix to the course specification document enables course teams to evidence how their courses meet minimum expectations, at what level where appropriate, as the basis for embedding the Educational Framework in all undergraduate provision at LSBU.

Dimension of the Educational Framework	Minimum expectations and rationale	How this is achieved in the course
Curricula informed by employer and industry need	Outcomes focus and professional/employer links All LSBU courses will evidence the involvement of external stakeholders in the curriculum design process as well as plan for the participation of employers and/or alumni through guest lectures or Q&A sessions, employer panels, employer-generated case studies or other input of expertise into the delivery of the course provide students with access to current workplace examples and role models. Students should have access to employers and/or alumni in at least one module at level 4.	The curriculum includes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Law_5_WIL work focused module assisting with connections to employers and the nature of work generally • guest lectures are encouraged • external examiners have been consulted • undergraduate students have been consulted • potential employers have been consulted
Embedded learning development	Support for transition and academic preparedness At least two modules at level 4 should include embedded learning development in the curriculum to support student understanding of, and familiarity with, disciplinary ways of thinking and practising (e.g. analytical thinking, academic writing, critical reading, reflection). Where possible, learning development will be normally integrated into content modules rather than as standalone modules. Other level 4 modules should reference and reinforce the learning development to aid in the transfer of learning.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Formative and summative assessments prepare students for transition across all modules. • Students are shown how to reference appropriately (particularly in Law_4_SSS & Law_4_PEL). • Theory is introduced at Level 4 and extended in the following years. • Levels 4 and 5 prepare students for Level 6 and especially for the research project. • Level 4 and 5 modules prepare methods skills for level 6 project
High impact pedagogies	Group-based learning experiences The capacity to work effectively in teams enhances learning through working with peers and develops student outcomes, including communication, networking and respect for diversity of perspectives relevant to professionalism and inclusivity. At least one module at level 4 should include an opportunity for group working. Group-based learning can also be linked to assessment at level 4 if appropriate. Consideration should be given to how students are allocated to groups to foster experience of diverse perspectives and values.	Modules at Level 4 and above include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Supported networks for cohort identity through Seminar Groupings which are matched by Personal Tutors and Mentors • Peer evaluation of formative activities • See assessment grid for summative assessments
Inclusive teaching, learning and assessment	Accessible materials, resources and activities All course materials and resources, including course guides, PowerPoint presentations, handouts and Moodle should be provided in an accessible format. For example, font type and size, layout and colour as well as captioning or transcripts for audio-visual materials. Consideration should also be given to accessibility and the availability of alternative formats for reading lists.	Occurs throughout the undergraduate programme. Work supported by a closing working relationship with the DDS and Wellbeing teams.
Assessment for learning	Assessment and feedback to support attainment, progression and retention Assessment is recognised as a critical point for at risk students as well as integral to the learning of all students. Formative feedback is essential during transition into university. All first semester modules at level 4 should include a formative or low-stakes summative assessment (e.g. low weighted in final outcome for the module) to provide an early opportunity for students to check progress and receive prompt and useable feedback that can feed-forward into future learning and assessment. Assessment and feedback communicates high expectations and develops a commitment to excellence.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All modules at all levels have a formative assessment incl. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Presentations ○ Tests and quizzes ○ Reviews • Amongst other modules Law_4_SSS and Law_4_PEL embed skills and have formative assessments. • We also have tutorials at all levels for 1-1 and small group feedback on formative assessment as well as module discussion • At level 4 we embed study skills session in at least one module per semester, including with the help of the Skills for learning team
High impact pedagogies	Research and enquiry experiences Opportunities for students to undertake small-scale independent enquiry enable students to understand how knowledge is generated and tested in the discipline as well as prepare them to engage in enquiry as a highly sought after outcome of university study. In preparation for an undergraduate dissertation at level 6, courses should provide opportunities for students to develop research skills at level 4 and 5 and should engage with open-ended problems with appropriate support. Research opportunities should build student autonomy and are likely to encourage creativity and problem-solving. Dissemination of student research outcomes, for example via posters, presentations and reports with peer review, should also be considered.	The following fulfil these requirement: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Level 4 modules support skills acquisition • Level 5 modules develop skills acquisition • Level 5 Option Pool B particularly develops students skills so they are project ready. • Level 6 Project module • In addition, all modules require independent reading, writing and analytical development.

Curricula informed by employer and industry need / Assessment for learning	Authentic learning and assessment tasks Live briefs, projects or equivalent authentic workplace learning experiences and/or assessments enable students, for example, to engage with external clients, develop their understanding through situated and experiential learning in real or simulated workplace contexts and deliver outputs to an agreed specification and deadline. Engagement with live briefs creates the opportunity for the development of student outcomes including excellence, professionalism, integrity and creativity. A live brief is likely to develop research and enquiry skills and can be linked to assessment if appropriate.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All Modules embed live briefs through usually both formative and summative assessments. • Law_5_WIL placement/experiential module. • Legal Advice Clinic • Seminar discussion in all modules encourages debate and analysis of ideas and builds confidence in oral communication. • Presentations simulate the workplace • Peer-peer evaluation
Inclusive teaching, learning and assessment	Course content and teaching methods acknowledge the diversity of the student cohort An inclusive curriculum incorporates images, examples, case studies and other resources from a broad range of cultural and social views reflecting diversity of the student cohort in terms of, for example, gender, ethnicity, sexuality, religious belief, socio-economic background etc. This commitment to inclusivity enables students to recognise themselves and their experiences in the curriculum as well as foster understanding of other viewpoints and identities.	Inclusivity embedded across the LLB curriculum and at the core of the law division values promoting human rights, the rule of law and social justice
Curricula informed by employer and industry need	Work-based learning Opportunities for learning that is relevant to future employment or undertaken in a workplace setting are fundamental to developing student applied knowledge as well as developing work-relevant student outcomes such as networking, professionalism and integrity. Work-based learning can take the form of work experience, internships or placements as well as, for example, case studies, simulations and role-play in industry-standards settings as relevant to the course. Work-based learning can be linked to assessment if appropriate.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ethics embedded across the curriculum and induction. • Work placement module • Presentations simulate the workplace • Law_5_WIL placement/experiential module. • Legal Advice Clinic • Confidence building in communicating in all modules – asking questions and entering into debates • Encouragement to do voluntary or paid experience work
Embedded learning development	Writing in the disciplines: Alternative formats The development of student awareness, understanding and mastery of the specific thinking and communication practices in the discipline is fundamental to applied subject knowledge. This involves explicitly defining the features of disciplinary thinking and practices, finding opportunities to scaffold student attempts to adopt these ways of thinking and practising and providing opportunities to receive formative feedback on this. A writing in the disciplines approach recognises that writing is not a discrete representation of knowledge but integral to the process of knowing and understanding in the discipline. It is expected that assessment utilises formats that are recognisable and applicable to those working in the profession. For example, project report, presentation, poster, lab or field report, journal or professional article, position paper, case report, handbook, exhibition guide.	Formative and summative assessment is included in all modules. Assessments include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Advising Clients and ministers • Case reports • Research based activities • project report, • presentations, • film reviews
High impact pedagogies	Multi-disciplinary, interdisciplinary or interprofessional group-based learning experiences Building on experience of group working at level 4, at level 5 students should be provided with the opportunity to work and manage more complex tasks in groups that work across traditional disciplinary and professional boundaries and reflecting interprofessional work-place settings. Learning in multi- or interdisciplinary groups creates the opportunity for the development of student outcomes including inclusivity, communication and networking.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The third year project requires work potentially across traditional disciplinary and professional boundaries • We teach the subject in an interdisciplinary way. • The curriculum offers different routes through e.g. business, criminal, family, human rights pathways • The degree also offers an interdisciplinary module with the Computing team.
Assessment for learning	Variation of assessment An inclusive approach to curriculum recognises diversity and seeks to create a learning environment that enables equal opportunities for learning for all students and does not give those with a particular prior qualification (e.g. A-level or BTEC) an advantage or disadvantage. An holistic assessment strategy should provide opportunities for all students to be able to demonstrate achievement of learning outcomes in different ways throughout the course. This may be by offering alternate assessment tasks at the same assessment point, for example either a written or oral assessment, or by offering a range of different assessment	Assessments include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Seen exams • Unseen exams • Coursework essays • project report, • research report, • presentations, • case studies, • quizzes • online tests tasks across the curriculum.	These all enable students to be able to demonstrate achievement in different ways throughout the course.

Curricula informed by employer and industry need	Career management skills Courses should provide support for the development of career management skills that enable student to be familiar with and understand relevant industries or professions, be able to build on work-related learning opportunities, understand the role of self-appraisal and planning for lifelong learning in career development, develop resilience and manage the career building process. This should be designed to inform the development of excellence and professionalism.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Expectations and self-managed learning embedded throughout the degree • Deadlines setting • Allocation of work • Presentations • Group work (research, projects and presentations) • Peer-to-peer assessment • Reflection • Project module (level 6)
Curricula informed by employer and industry need / Assessment for learning / High impact pedagogies	Capstone project/dissertation The level 6 project or dissertation is a critical point for the integration and synthesis of knowledge and skills from across the course. It also provides an important transition into employment if the assessment is authentic, industry-facing or client-driven. It is recommended that this is a capstone experience, bringing together all learning across the course and creates the opportunity for the development of student outcomes including professionalism, integrity and creativity.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The final year Project fulfils these requirements in integrating knowledge and skills, preparing students for the workplace or further study.
