Welcome to London South Bank University!

At LSBU we are committed to supporting our learners, families and communities to grow and succeed in their passions. By working closely with schools, colleges, councils and charities we offer a wide range of workshops, programmes and advice for anyone considering college, university or apprenticeships.

Originally the Borough Polytechnic Institute, we laid down roots in south London in 1892 with a core aim 'to promote the industrial skill, general knowledge, health and well-being of young men and women', which remains central to our mission today,

- Access to Opportunity - through local and global partnerships we create opportunities for individuals, business and society and seek to remove barriers to success.
- Student Success - fostering the development of able graduates ready to address business and societal challenges.
- Real World Impact - research and innovation that tackles global challenges and generates sustainable solutions to transform the lives of individuals, communities and society.

Our practical and vocational approach ensures our students will leave equipped with the skills to meet the challenges of today's workplace.

This booklet gives an overview of the programmes available for different groups and is particularly useful for anyone who supports young people or adults.

Our activities encourage learners to expand their knowledge of further and higher education (HE), develop their skills and confidence, and explore new subjects and careers. Through collaboration across LSBU and our community partners we aim to build a fuller picture of what life at university could be for our prospective learners and their families.

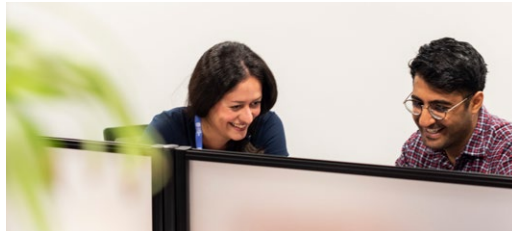

We hope you find this booklet useful and look forward to working with you and your learners this year!

What is widening participation?

Widening participation has been part of government education policy for decades. It was designed to address differences in progression to HE between different groups, acknowledging that learners from disadvantaged backgrounds may face significant barriers when considering, applying to, and succeeding in higher education.

At LSBU we work with anyone interested in further and higher education, however we provide extra programmes for those who come from under-represented social groups in HE and who might miss out on the opportunity to progress their education due to circumstances out of their control,

- learners receiving, or eligible for, free school meals
- disabled learners including those with long-term illness*
- adult learners – anyone 21 or over who is interested in studying for an undergraduate degree
- care leavers and looked after children*
- young and adult carers*
- learners with no parental/carer history of higher education
- refugees and asylum seekers
- Gypsy, Roma, Traveller, Showman and Boater communities*.

We are committed to challenging preconceptions, offering opportunities for learners and their families to explore new subjects and careers, and to using our network of academics, students, alumni and partners to support those considering further and higher education.

*Support for looked after children, young carers and other priority groups

Learners from these groups will get priority access to our activities, as well as bespoke support during application to LSBU such as one-to-one personal statement advice. Once enrolled at LSBU we provide additional support throughout your studies including bursaries, counselling and dedicated staff.

Data collection and GDPR

We collect data in several different ways depending on the activity,

- Online data collection forms completed by the participant before the activity takes place – Year 9 and above.
- Online or paper data collection form completed by the parent/carer before the activity takes place – Year 8 and below.
- Online, paper or in-person feedback after the activity has taken place e.g. feedback forms, focus groups.
- Basic information supplied via secure platform/email from the school e.g. register.

Personal data is held securely on LSBU's CRM and digital engagement platforms which are used to collect the data through the online forms. There are a limited number of LSBU staff who have access to this data, all have received data protection training. Where data is not held on our servers, we use systems that are secure cloud based, and password protected. You can find a list of the data we collect and the reasons why at www.lsbu.ac.uk/footer/data-protection.

BA (Hons) Social Work

Are you a school or college with a safeguarding team, which has the capacity to offer a placement to a Social Work student (either 70 or 100 days)?

We also place Social Work students in health settings, hospices, local authorities, with care providers and a wide range of community-based charities.

If you believe that you could offer valuable experience to a Social Work student, and that your organisation would benefit from the input of their ideas and initiatives, please contact Patricia.

Postgraduate Certificate in Education (PGCE) Primary

This course leads to Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) and the award of a Postgraduate Certificate in Education. LSBU's Division of Education has a particular focus on social justice, inclusion and equality that is well matched to the needs of schools in urban and multicultural areas.

How does it work?

Trainee teachers are allocated a Professional Adviser and spend the first six weeks in the university learning about education theories, concepts, major developments, teaching styles, new technology, learning strategies, lesson planning, behaviour management, assessment for learning, subject knowledge, reflective practice, research skills, the Teachers' Standards and the National Curriculum. Trainee teachers deliver planned lessons to their peers and tutors before undertaking two school-based teaching practices in LSBU's Partnership primary schools:

1. Mid October to the end of January: An Initial Teaching Practice working towards 40% of the teaching responsibilities. Trainees start with an initial focus on early reading, phonics and mathematics; working with designated children to improve their English and mathematics. In December, trainees commence whole class teaching with a designated year group.
2. April to the beginning of July: A Final Teaching Practice working towards 80% of the teaching responsibilities with a designated year group.

Alternative Education Setting

In addition, trainee teachers undertake a placement in an alternative education setting for two weeks at the end of March to broaden their professional experiences and to appreciate education in different settings.

Partnership Primary Schools

The Education Division is always looking to establish new partnerships with primary schools. The Division currently supports three models of partnership working: Enhanced, Aided and Supported. The models reflect the level of support and funding provided to the schools from the Division for supporting PGCE trainees.

BA (Hons) Education Studies students

The undergraduate BA Education Studies degree includes student placements as part of the core curriculum. We have two placement opportunities throughout the undergraduate degree:

Reading Mentor Placement

Who? Level 4 Undergraduate Students (first year)

---

Where? Primary or Early Years Settings

---

When? 8 days across 4 weeks in April/May

---

Alternative Education Setting Placement

---

Who? Level 5 Undergraduate Students (second year)

---

Where? Any non-mainstream setting e.g. SEN school, PRU, community education, library, arts education, sports education, museum, hospital school etc.

---

When? 10 days across 5 weeks in February/March

---

Students must be supervised by a qualified member of staff at the setting. Students are responsible for undertaking all activity relevant to their assignments and do not require support from the setting supervisor other than ensuring they have the necessary experiences whilst on placement. A university Tutor will visit the student in the setting to ensure they are developing their skills and knowledge appropriately and to liaise with the setting supervisor.
